A Trip to the Moon

Brains has had a very busy day today.

He has been planning for the Gang's next big adventure.
It will be their biggest adventure ever!

"Come outside with me" said Brains to the Gang. "I have something very special to show you all".

“Wow! What is that?” they all cried.

Brains had built an amazing space rocket in the back garden!

“You must be very clever to build a rocket all on your own!” said Megabyte.

“That’s why he’s called Brains”
said the Omega Twins.

“OK. Is everybody ready for an out of this world adventure?” said Brains.
“because we’re going to the Moon!”

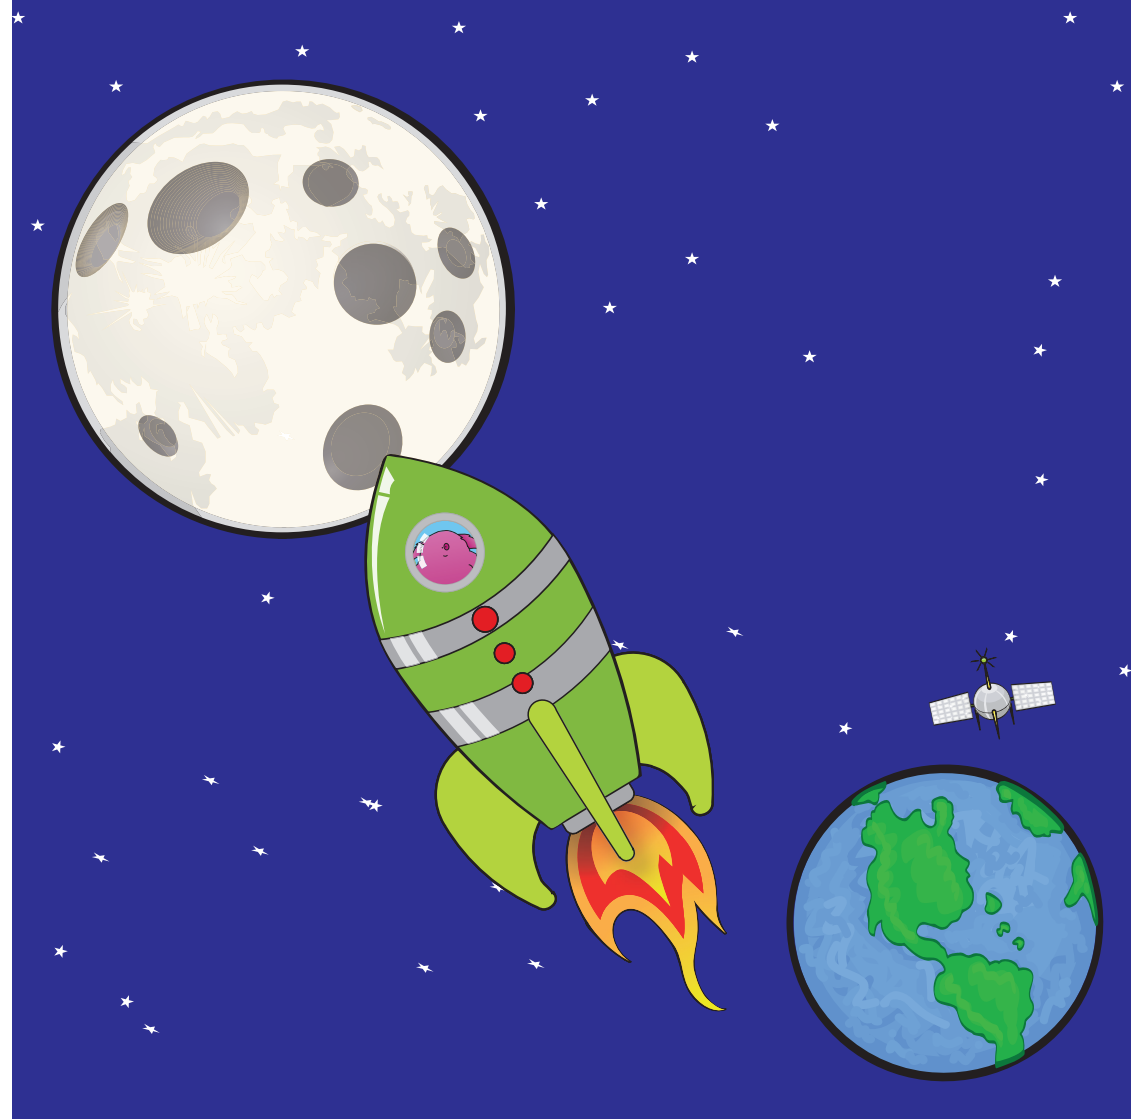

They all climbed into the rocket and boom!
They were off to the moon!

As they got higher and higher into space,
Bones took a look out of the window.

The world was getting further away,
and the moon was getting closer.

“We’ll soon be there” said Brains.
“We all need to put on our spacesuits
before we land.”

They had arrived on the moon!

The Gang were so excited. "I'm floating like a balloon!" said Big Eye.

That's because here on the moon there is less gravity. This means we can bounce around and feel as light as a feather!"

"I've never felt as light as a feather before" said Bones.

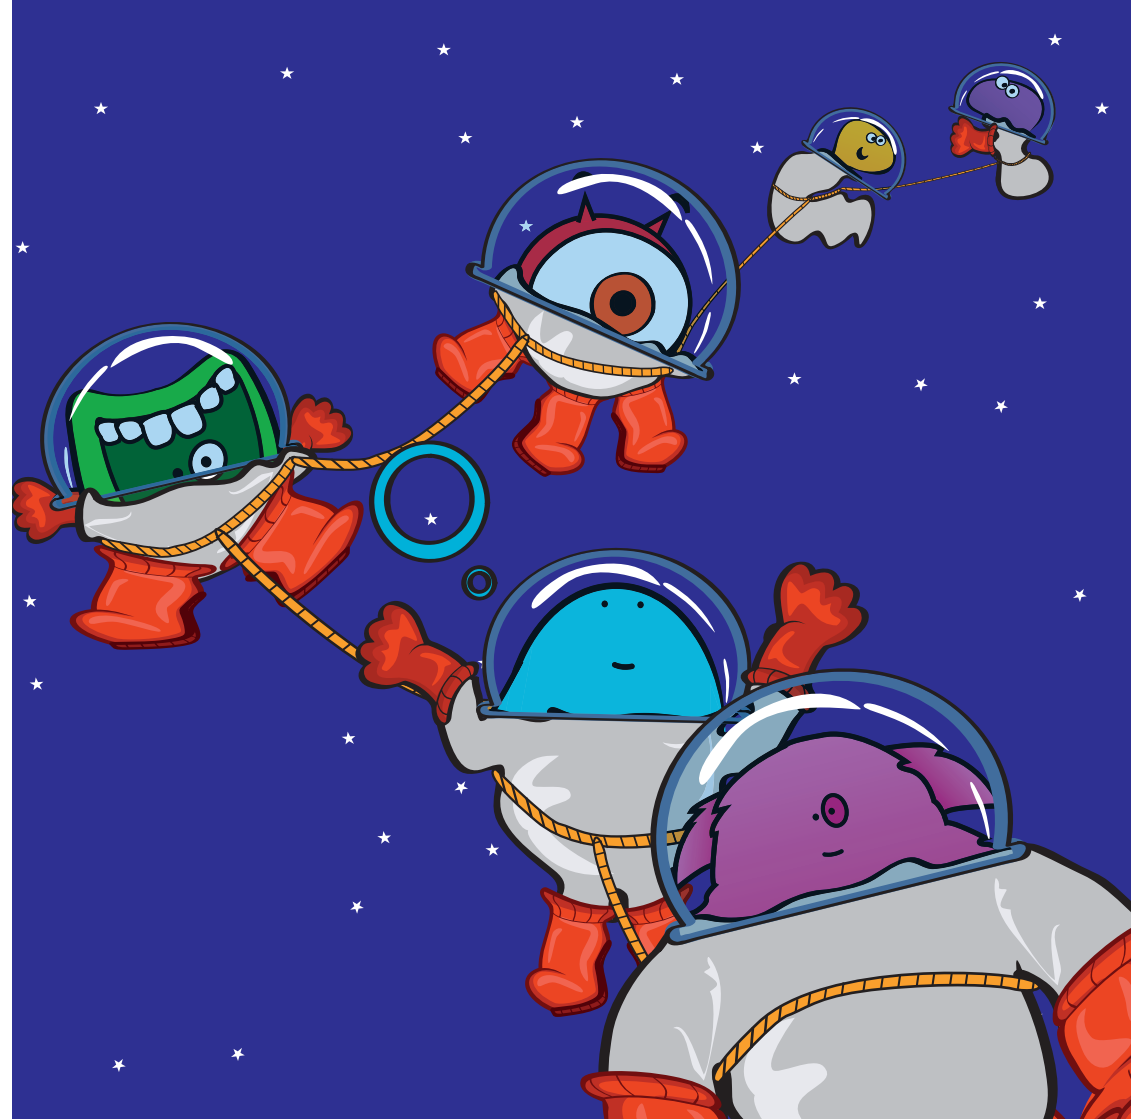

“We can all float in space together here on the moon” said Brains.

He tied a long, strong rope to the rocket and then around the waists of the whole Gang.

“I will count to three and then we will all jump up together” said Brains.

“1... 2... and 3!”

They all jumped up and they were floating in space! It took ages for them to come back down again!

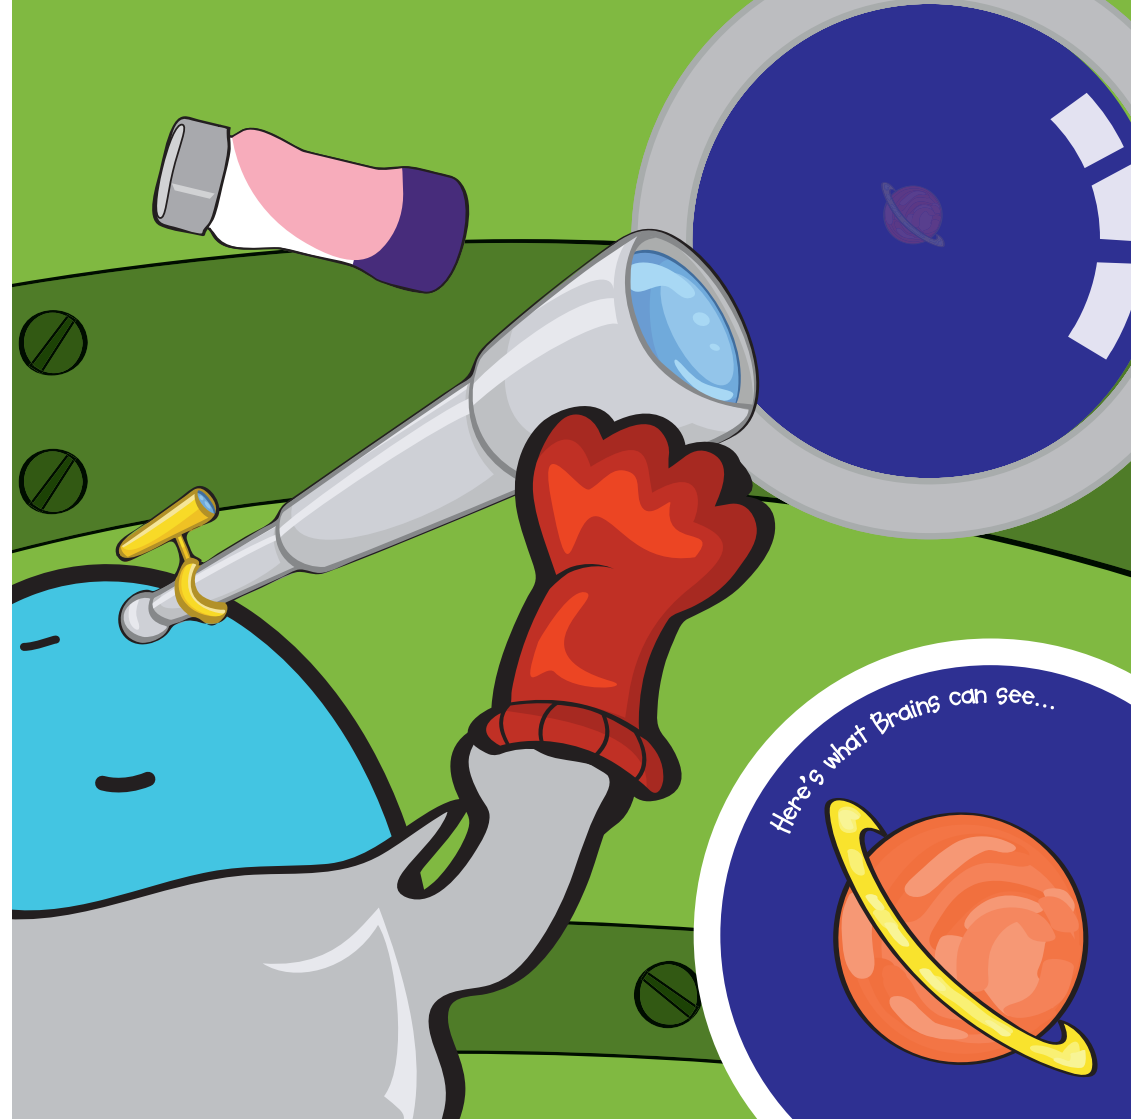

When they climbed back inside the rocket, Brains looked through his telescope. He saw a really big planet with a ring around it.

"That planet is called Saturn" he told the Gang.
"There are lots of other planets we can see from here as well, but Saturn is my favourite"

A bottle of their special drink floated past them. "Is that another planet?" said the Omega Twins!

"Maybe we can go home now?" said Megabyte.
He was beginning to feel hungry!

Brains made sure everyone was wearing their special spaceship seat belts and started up the rocket engine again.

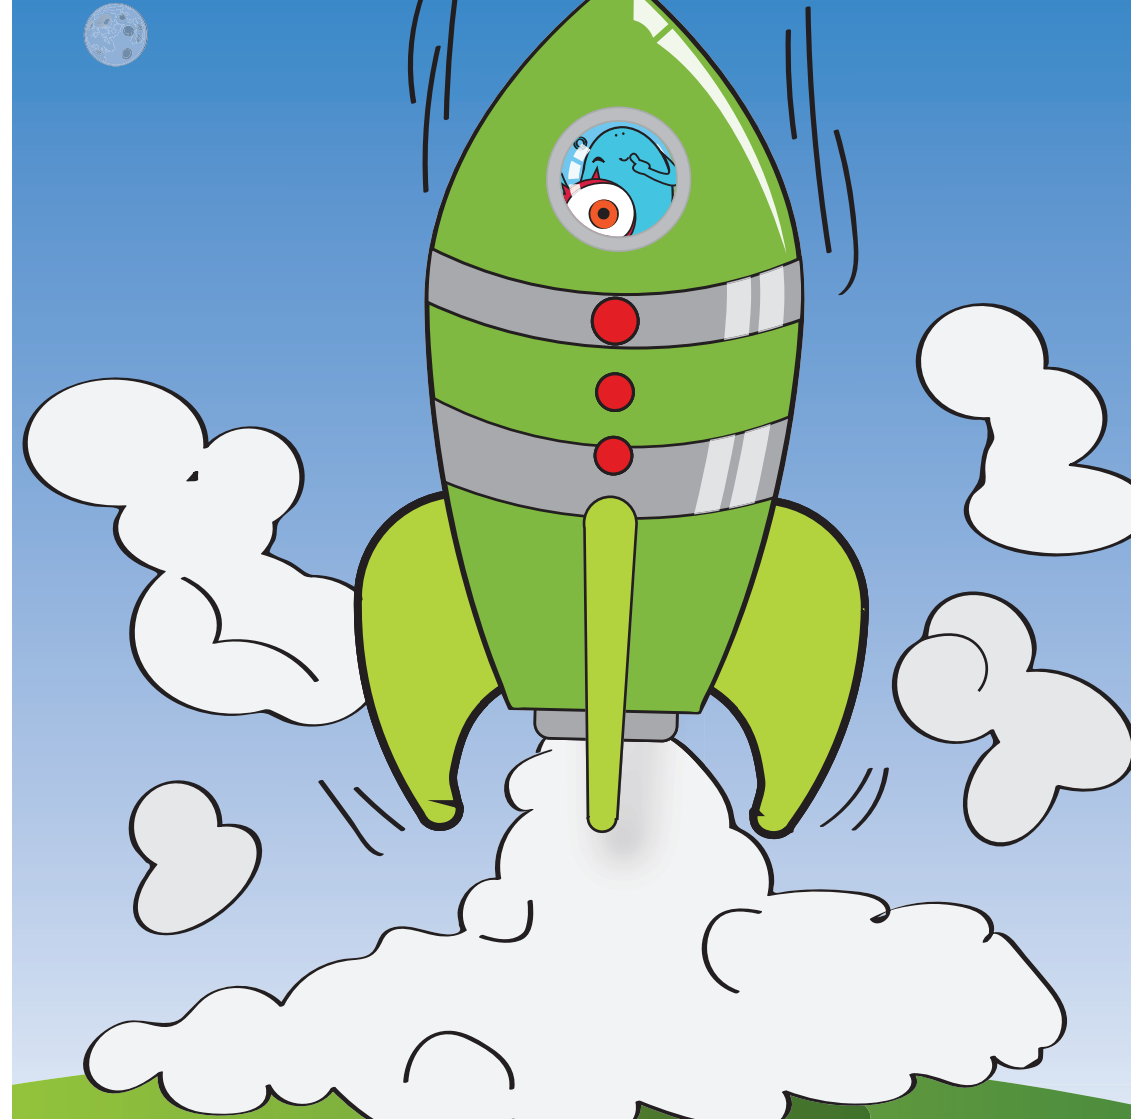

“We’ll be back in time for tea” he said, as the rocket started the journey home.

Before they knew it, they were landing in the garden at the Club House.

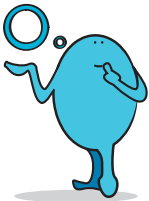

“That might have been our best adventure yet!” said Big Eye.

“It was out of this world!”

What will be their next adventure?
