Where in the World?

The Gang were in the Club House looking at their holiday photographs.

They had been to lots of different places all around the world.

Can you guess where in the world the Gang had been?

First it was Megabyte's turn.

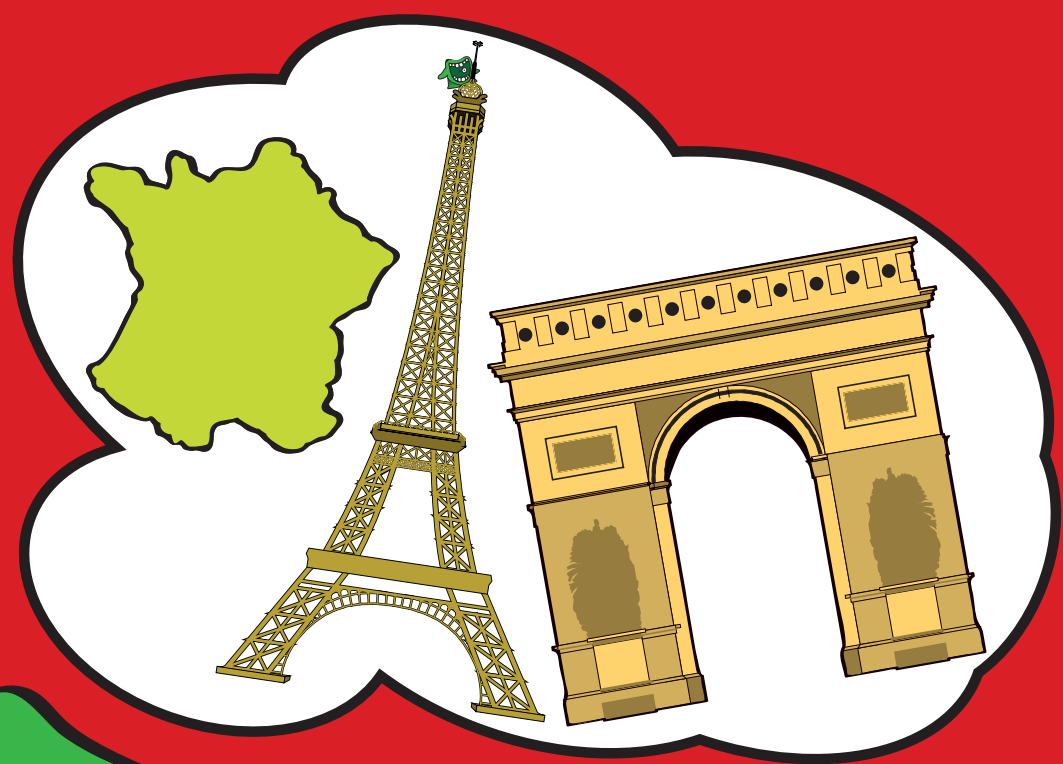

"This was one of my favourite trips" he said.

"We went all the way to the top of the Eiffel Tower and we could see right across the big city below us!"

"It was very high. So high we could see all the way to the Arc de Triomphe!"

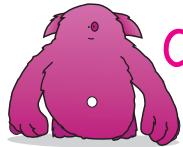

Where do you think the Gang went?

Next it was Bones.

“Do you remember when we went to the country that had the really, really long wall called The Great Wall?” he said.

“There were lots of pretty buildings called Pagodas and they used chopsticks to eat their meals!”

Can you guess which country this is?

"My turn!" said Brains.

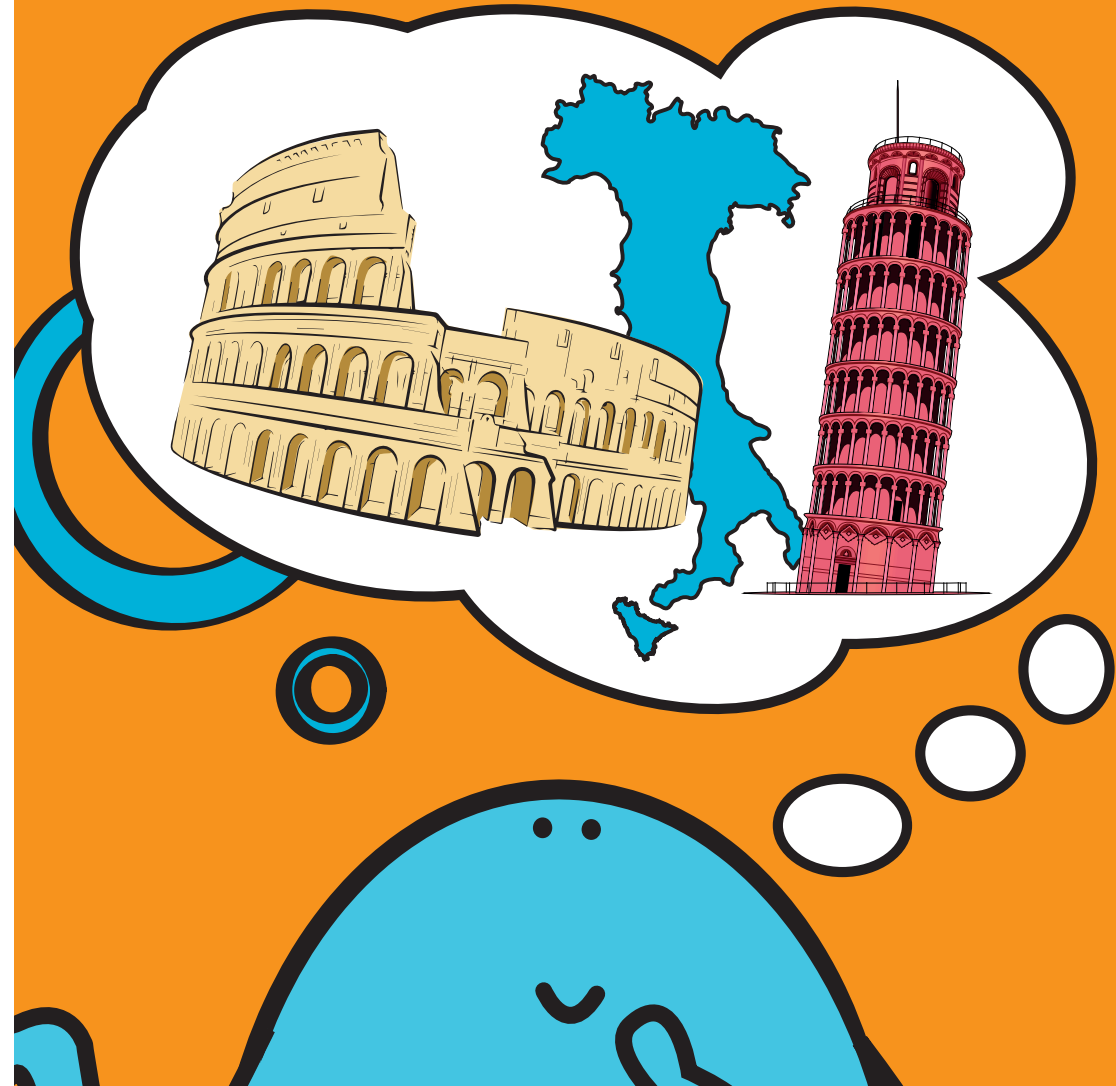

"I remember when we went to see a very old building called the Colosseum." he said.

"It is where the Romans used to live."

"We also went to see the big building that looks like it is falling over! That's why it is called the Leaning Tower of Pisa."

Which country did the gang visit?...

“We remember our favourite trip too!”
said the Omega Twins.

“We visited the Statue of Liberty.
It was very tall like Bones and very green,
just like Megabyte!”

“The next day we visited somewhere very famous called the Empire State Building!”

Where are The Twins talking about?

"All of our trips have been brilliant."
said Big Eye.

"My favourite though was when we all climbed on to a camel and rode in the desert
to see those giant pyramids!"

"We also saw a really big statue that looked just like a cat called the Sphinx!"

Where was Big Eye's favourite holiday?

The Gang all agreed they had visited some wonderful places all around the world.

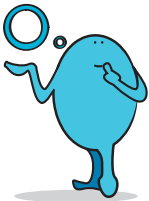

They had been very lucky to travel so much and see so many interesting places.

Now they just had to decide where to go to next!

Where was your favourite holiday?
